In addition, the government has identified pipeline projects that will be subjected to pre-feasibility appraisals with a view to identify the most suitable projects that can be implemented using the PPP arrangement.

56. Madam Speaker, the implementation of public-private partnership in our country is guided by two legislative instruments - the PPP Act No. 18 of 2010 and the Public Procurement Act (PPA) No. 6 of 2004 as amended in 2011. The later law was amended so as to incorporate provisions that provide guidance for public institutions to procure private investors who are willing to enter into partnership with the public institutions. The government is in the final stage of approving PPA Regulations whose issuance completes the legislative framework required to implement public-private partnerships in the country. The government will ensure that there is compliance with all legislative and regulatory requirements in approving and supervising PPP projects.

57. Madam Speaker, during the 2012/13 the government will conduct training and capacity building to all employees involved in implementing the PPP program. During the period under reference, Public domestic debt stock increased by 10.5 percent from Shilling 4,496.5 billion as at March, 2011 to Shilling 4,969.7 billion as at March, 2012. The increase in domestic debt stocks is attributed to the rising need for new domestic loans to finance the prioritized development expenditures, issuance of the Treasury Bills and Bonds for liquidity management and developing the domestic financial Market.
